

Shell vs WEX card breakdown:

All Vans have TWO credit cards. WEX card verses Shell card.

The Shell card is used for missions that include a letter or number from the acronym 1ATM (i.e. YY-1-XXXX, YY-A-XXXX, YY-T-XXXX, YY-M-XXXX).

The card, depending on the station you use may ask for different things. The Driver ID is the first four digits of the van number, i.e.... for van #:42148, the Driver ID is 4214. That means that multiple vans will have the same number.

The Odometer reading is self-explanatory.

If the station ask for Zip code, you must use: 36112.

Shell cards are also used for Maintenance. Follow the rules that should be in the Vehicle folder.

The WEX card is turned off and unusable unless you are on a Corporate mission and the IC request them turned on. If and when you are given permission from an IC to use the WEX card the IC will provide you with a Driver ID. For the WEX card, Driver ID is mission specific.
